What is an influence?

Definition: "The capacity to have an effect on the character, development, or behaviour of someone or something, or the effect itself."

Oxford Dictionary

Positive and Negative Pressure

- Distinguishing between:
  - Positive pressure
  - Negative pressure
- How can you resist negative pressure?

Personal Values and Beliefs

- Determining one's values and beliefs
  - Examples: family, work, equality
  - How can these values influence your driving?

Responsibility

Freedom

Communication

Respect

Mutual Help

Activity: Influence of the Media

Instructions (in teams)

- Team 1: How can advertising extolling the virtues of an automobile have a beneficial effect on our behaviour on the road?
- Team 2: How can advertising extolling the virtues of an automobile have a harmful effect on our behaviour on the road?
- Appoint a spokesperson to report back to all participants
- Take 10 minutes together to come up with arguments to defend your team's position

Influence of the Media

- Positive and negative elements of media content
- Impact of the media on road behaviour
- Importance of maintaining critical judgment

Influence of Parents and Peers

True or False?

- (1) Your parents' behaviour at the wheel can influence the way you drive

Answer

True

The family is the primary environment for the transmission of values such as respect for rules and respect for others

True or False?

- (2) Your behaviour can be conditioned by the presence of your friends in the vehicle

Answer

True

A number of studies have shown there is a relationship between the presence of passengers the same age as the driver and an increase in the level of risk of an accident

True or False?

- (3) It is more difficult for a young person than for someone older to resist pressure from friends or family

Answer

True

The fear of rejection and the need to be accepted and appreciated by your peers can make you adopt behaviours that are contrary to your values

True or False?

- (4) You are a passenger in your best friend's vehicle. Seeing that you don't want to buckle your seat belt, your friend doesn't want to start the vehicle. In refusing to start the vehicle, your friend is exercising positive pressure.

Answer

True

This is an example of positive pressure. The way your friend is acting could save your life...

Now, It's Your Turn!

Based on your experience as a road user, give your own examples of positive and negative pressure
